Students follow an intensive curriculum and achieve multiple learning goals. These films can be up to fifteen minutes in length and provide a larger canvas in which students can express their creative vision. These Thesis Films are the capstone project of the BFA Film program, putting into practice the skills acquired throughout the previous terms. In this semester students are introduced to the advanced equipment package that they will use in their intermediate films produced in semester four. Students will learn the requisite skills to write, direct, film and edit four short films. Over the course of the nine semesters, students will progress in their education towards completing a final thesis film or feature length film. 4th Semester: Semester four is dedicated to the production of the intermediate film and its supporting classes, as well as the first in a series of feature film screenwriting courses. This semester also introduces them to the more advanced equipment package they will use in their Thesis Films, in the cinematography III class, and continues with feature screenplay and critical film studies. 3rd Semester: More advanced levels of production are instructed in the third semester with students continuing into advanced topics in directing, cinematography, and producing. The BFA in Film program in Miami provides a creative setting with which to challenge, inspire, and perfect the talents of the student body. The first semester is also when students begin their courses in the arts and humanities and the social and behavioral sciences, which will continue throughout the course of their BFA studies. The accelerated pace of study develops studentseÁÁÁ basic narrative and visual literacy that further terms will build upon.
